

ADEPT RISK ASSIST

THE HEALTH AND SAFETY COMMISSION HAVE PRODUCED GUIDELINES FOR EMPLOYERS CALLED DRIVING AT WORK: MANAGING WORK-RELATED ROAD SAFETY, WHICH IS AVAILABLE AT WWW.HSE.GOV.UK

Organisations such as ROSPA (The Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents) continue to campaign to ensure detailed investigations are carried out in relation to fatigue, working long hours, speeding, lack of training and driving defective vehicles.

Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999 clearly sets out the requirements of an employer. It states they must provide "adequate training for all work related activities, which includes driving on company business".

With the introduction of the Corporate Manslaughter and Corporate Homicide Bill there is now government-backed legislation for offences surrounding reckless killing, killing by gross carelessness, as well as corporate manslaughter. Taking responsible and timely action in relation to driver risk management is essential. Securing an audit trail for compliance purposes is even more important for today's senior managers, board directors and company owners.
